A customer has 100 client computers.
You need to recommend which free tools the customer can use to create an inventory of the software currently installed on the client computers.
Which tools should you recommend? (Choose all that apply.)
A. Microsoft System Center Essentials 2010
B. Microsoft Software Inventory Analyzer (MSIA)
C. Microsoft Assessment and Planning (MAP) Toolkit
D. Microsoft Asset Inventory Service (AIS)
E. Key Management Service (KMS)
Answer: B,C Explanation:
D: The Microsoft Software Inventory Analyzer (MSIA) is a free tool available for download that can help you with your software inventory. It is built specifically to be a starting point to working with SAM. You can use the MSIA to scan and inventory the Microsoft software that is installed on a single computer, or on multiple computers throughout a network. It generates a report that provides details of all installed Microsoft products, including the type and the number of licenses. The MSIA will work with networks that have 250 or fewer computers E: MAP performs four key functions: discovery and inventory of computers and applications, hardware and software migration readiness assessments, software usage tracking, and capacity planning for virtualization, public and private cloud migration.

MAP can be downloaded for free.
