Answer: B

NEW QUESTION: 3

The core dump configuration in your non global zone is

A user is running a process in a non-global zone (testzone) and the process crashes. The process information is:

user126632618017:46:42pts/20:00/usr/bin/bash

When the user's process crashes in testzone, a non-global zone, where will the core dump be saved?

- A. A core file cannot be generated in a non-global zone because it shares the kernel with the global zone.
- B. The file will be stored in the non-global zone's directory: /var/core/pprocess/core.hash.2663.
- C. The file will be stored in the global zone's directory: /var/core/pprocess/core.bash.2663.
- D. The file will be saved in non-global zone's directory: /var/core/core.bash.2663
- E. The file will be saved in the global zone's directory: /var/core/core.bash.2663.

Answer: D

Explanation:

The line init core file pattern: /var/core/core.%f.%p will be used for the non-global process to determine the destination of the dump file.

Note: When a process is dumping core, up to three core files can be produced: one in the per-process location, one in the system-wide global location, and, if the process was running in a local (non-global) zone, one in the global location for the zone in which that process was running.
